CHIME THROUGH THE YEARS

“STOLEN SKIN” BY NELL BASLEY AND TARYN EVERDEEN FOR CONNECTHER

CHIME FOR CHANGE Through the Years: The Female Fabric is a series curated by CHIME Managing Editor Mariane Pearl featuring stories from the CHIME journalism platform archives by women around the world.

‘Stolen Skin’ is a spoken word piece accompanied by a montage of sounds and visuals, depicting the experiences and feelings of victims of public sexual harassment.

The ConnectHER Film Festival provides a powerful platform for young storytellers to highlight critical issues facing women and girls. Students submit original short (3 to 6 minute) films focused on issues such as girls' global education, ending violence against women, redefining beauty, and girls in tech.

Nell Basley is an 18-year-old film studies student from the UK in her last year of sixth form. Passionate about issues like climate change and gender equality, Nell has started to use her love of film and storytelling as a vehicle for her activism. She is part of the UK Student Climate Network.

Taryn Everdeen is an 18-year-old from the UK, currently making the most of her gap year to travel and see the world. Her love of film evolved from a passion for photography and a fascination with people and their lives. She is a delegate of the International Congress of Youth Voices.
